THE MURDEROUS PISTOL.

to Kill—The Assault Unprovoked and Unexpected—Laswell Dying and Barney Fitzgerald Still At Large.

About 1:30 yesterday morning Tom Laswell was shot by Barney (or Burns) Fitzgerald, in the Merchants' Exchange saloon. The particulars of the fight were as follows: Laswell and Fitzgerald had been playing cards together during the night, and subsequently Fitzgerald called Laswell outside and asked for a loan of some miney. The loan was refused, and after a few minutes of quiet talk, the two reentered the saloon and stepped up to she bar to take a drink together. Fitzgerald, who was pretty drunk at the time,

DREW A PISTOL and laying it on the bar, he said "There's one that never fails to bark." A few moments afterward, the men in the saloon were startled by the report of the pistol; they saw Laswell press his hand to his side and heard him say "I am shot!" He then fell to the floor. Fitzgerald stood with the pisto In his hand, and taking aim at Las-well as he lay on the floor, fired a sec-ond shot. The bullet went wide of its mark and lodged in the woodwork in the rear of the saloon. He tried to shoot a third time but the pistol missed fire. Fitzgerald then ran out of the saloon and disappeared. The

A GREAT SURPRISE TO EVERYBODY. Laswell did not suspect that Fitz-gerald had any intention to even quarrel with him, and until the firing be gan everyone thought the two were on friendly terms. It is believed that the shooting grew out of an old grudge that Fitzgerld is known to have long entertained for his victim. The two are both "sporting" men, and had been on intimate terms for some time past. Laswell is said to have been man of good disposition and general good chararacter. Fitzgerald's reput-ation is not good, and he seems to have few friends. His father is said to keep a large billiard saloon in San Francisco. Laswell used to be a teamster. He has been living here a num-ber of years. He has no family.

A FATAL WOUND. Laswell was shot in the lower part of the abdomen, on the right side. The ball, of large calibre, passed nearly through his body, lodging under the skin in the region of the loins. The wounded man was at once emoved to a room over the salo Dr. Bergman called to attend The doctor extracted the ball with some difficulty. From the course it had taken, he fewed the injury would prove fatal. Inflammation was likely to follow, and the man's constitution cover. This morning the symptoms indicated that death was certain to on result.

Sheriff Walker was called immedi ately after the shooting occurred and spent some time in trying to hunt up the fugitive. He has offered a reward of $100 for his apprehension. Yester day the officers searched Chinatown, the disreputable alleys, and other places where Fitzgerald was likely to be concealed, but with no success. A story has been circulated about the criminal's having lain hidden in a trank all day yesterday, but there is one made a great deal of fun, and its no truth in it. Last evening the tar best hits will be repeated this evening, brigade was out in full force, trying to with some features entirely new, find Fitzgerald and other offenders. They had Lincoln avenue and severa other places thoroughly blockaded. The gamblers and blacklegs got wind of their proceedings and hastily left the town. The tar brigade did noth

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Laswell was still living, but apparently sinking. There are no hopes of his covery. Fitzgerald has not yet be

A State Writing Medium.

Several years ago meetings held in nearly every town on the coast by Professor Baldwin, who has spent a lifetime and fortune in the study of spiritualism. His meeting at the Metropolitan theatre in Sacra-mento was attended by Dr. Pearson and a believer in spiritualism. The doctor thought he would make a close test, so he brought a slate, intending to offer it to the professor and see if he could expose the state writing. It happened that the doctor was one of selected by the audience, to take seats on the stage to watch the tricks. He put his state under his big overcoat and stepped up. About the first thing the professor did was to light upon the doctor, when the following onversation occurred:
Professor:—'I believe you are Dr.

Pearson. Doctor :- "Yes sir." Prof .: - "Now doctor, did you buy slate to-day and bring it here to atch me?"

Dr.:—"Yes sir."

Prof.:—"Will you please hold up e slate?" (doctor holds up the slate neatly wrapped in paper and tied with a string.) "Was there anything written on that slate when you bought it?"

Dr.:—"No sir." Prof.:- Has it been out of your pos-

Dr.:-"No sir."
Profi:-"Has it been opened?" Dr.:-"No sir."

Prof. :- "Now doctor, are you willing to undo the slate and, if there anything written on it, read it?" Dr.:-"Yes sir."-Dr. unties the slate and reads in a loud voice, "spiritualism is a damned humbug.'

Cattle and Hay.

There are now about 2,000 head of eef cattle feeding in and about Reno distributed nearly as follows: Powers has 800; Mapes 300; Ward Bros. 200 Hirscroff 170: Longley 150; Flint 150; Steyens 150; Miller 100; besides some mall lots in other hands,

On the road, to arrive this evening are 800 head of cattle from the northern country. Of these 300 will be at once delivered on contract to Belly, at six and a half cents. The remaining 500 will be fed here until sold.

Ramsay, who came in with 300 head last week, sold 100 last Saturday to Carrick and Hayes. They were shipped to San Francisco yesterday. The price paid was six and one-quar-rates as follows: For first quality of loose grass hay, $8 00 per ton, delivered for first quality of loose clover hay, to be fed to the stock on the ground, $8 50. The feeding is worth 1 or $1 50, so that the last quotation is really equal to $7 or $7 50 per ton delivered.

Mr. Wood is well-known in Reno, He was formerly Governor of Utah, and also of Oregon, and made some very able speeches in the last campaign the says the road is sure to go; one of the party, Jas. T. Davis, has gone east and was to arrive in New York yes-terday. His errand is to perfect some minor details in an arrangement al-ready made, after which work will be-gin at once. The building of the Bo-die extension of the V. & T. R. R. will not interfere with it in the least The parties are confident that they have a good route and that the road will pay from the start.

Eprron Gazertz: The ingenious, and really able letter from J. C. eedings in the District Court since Stubbs, General Freight Agent, pubfished in your valuable paper a week ago, makes a better showing on that side of the question than I supposed possible. As long, however, as freight put off at Nevada stations for points in Oregon, Idaho and Montana pays only its proportion of the through rate, while our freight goes through to California and back to the same stations, we shall reserve the right to growl. The very fact that the company's agents are instructed to bill our freight through and back, shows that the rates are too high, else they would bill to us direct and charge the rates on the tariff. One thiffg I no-tice, Mr. Stubbs has abandoned the former plea that eastern roads refuse to allow the freight to be stopped in Nevada. The freight on machinery and building materials are heavy enough to affect the development of the state. Many mines are unopened because of the cost of machinery (50 per cent. of which is freight) is beyond the reach of the owners. Many stock men live in sod and brush buts, who would have pleasant cotond the reach of the owners. tages if lumber rates were lower. Many fields would be fenced and culivated that now lie idle because the boards are worth more than the land. Mr. Stubbs' argument amounts to Mr. Stubbs' argument amounts to this: "There is no competition, so we have you in the door. We will make as much money out of you as we possibly can." The remedy is phain and has been often pointed out by the GAZETTE. If we cannot regulate rates by law we can do it by opening up new connections. Let us heed the lesson tanget by Mr. Stubbs, and tap the first railroad that comes along either first railroad that comes along either
